

This week in Reception

February 28th – March 4th 2022

What is that sound?

This week we have learned the digraphs ow, oi and ur.
We have added one more tricky word – all.
We have also been thinking about rhymes and rhyming words, especially in stories.

Maths mastery this week has had us going up the stairs!!
We have learned that the staircase patterns that blocks or cubes make can show us when numbers are in the right order. This also means we can see when they are not in the right order too.
Look at this weeks's blog to see the children playing with these ideas!

Other Areas of Learning

We went for a 'Listening Walk' around school to find different sounds in the school environment. It certainly proved the children can listen!
We also talked about different kinds of sounds, such as different voice sounds, animals. machines etc.

We thoroughly enjoyed dressing up as our favourite characters from books and stories that we know. The children liked talking about who they were and what story they were from. Well done everybody!! And a big thank you for your contributions towards new books for our school library.

Some photographs of these activities are on this week's blog.
